

ANJET

A MESSAGE FROM THE PRINCIPAL

Welcome to our company's web site. We are ANJET, one of the most affordable, flexible and accessible firms in private aviation charter. My name is Anthony Newcombe, co-founder and ANJET managing principal.

Our goal is to provide our clientele with a superior overall private aviation experience, drawing from our business relationships developed through the years with thousands of aircraft operators worldwide. Especially during these challenging economic times, we try to minimize the expense of chartering an aircraft while working tirelessly to locate the best possible rate and selection for our client base. Additionally, we are developing key partnerships with organizations who share our core business philosophy, which is focused on three areas: exemplary service, highest integrity and best value.

There have been many additions recently at ANJET, with many more to come. In 2009, we developed a unique set of multi-language platforms – currently Korean and Mandarin Chinese – and will be adding Japanese and other versions shortly. These platforms extend directly from www.anjet.net for the convenience of our global prospects and clients. Finally, ANJET prides itself in community involvement, where we strive to give back our time and resources to the communities in which we serve.

Our staff looks forward to hearing from you. We will do our absolute best to ensure that you enjoy the best experience possible. Please forward your itinerary for a competitive and complimentary quote. Thank you in advance for your time and interest!

ANJET: Fly with the elite, the best of the best.™